Projects

Ticket Booking System | C++, DSA | Link Jul-2025

- Engineered a ticket booking system in C++ using object-oriented programming principles and an array-based queue structure.
- Implemented core functionalities including ticket reservation, cancellation, automated pricing, and real-time ticket display.
- Designed a clean class-based architecture with structured input handling and efficient queue operations to simulate a real-world booking workflow.
- Focused on making the system efficient and responsive by improving how booking and cancellation requests are processed

Student Performance Management System | Github Apr-2025

- Developed a console-based application using C++ to manage student records, including marks, grades, and basic details.
- Implemented efficient data handling using vectors, along with sorting and binary search for quick retrieval of student information.
- Added file handling to store and load data, allowing records to persist between program executions.
- Designed a simple and user-friendly menu-driven interface to perform operations like adding, searching, and analyzing student performance.
